

The GMAT PREP COURSE

GMAT is the benchmark graduate business programme entrance exam.

200 000 people take the test per annum and

7 000 business schools require it at

2 300 universities worldwide.

More than 50% test takers spend at least

51
hours

studying for the exam.

The majority of test takers fail to make the grade when taking the GMAT.

The GMAT can only be taken once per 31 days and 5 times per year.

The UCT GSB offers a five-day GMAT Preparation Course designed to boost test takers' chances of success.

The programme helps to prepare delegates to write the GMAT entrance examination with confidence.

To familiarise delegates with the structure and content of the GMAT.

To familiarise and enable delegates to practice the computerised format of the GMAT.

To impart techniques for answering the different types of GMAT questions.

To develop delegates' confidence in answering GMAT questions.

To focus on time management and GMAT examination strategies.

To benefit from group support and interaction provided by other GMAT delegates.
